VICTORY TICKET TO WIN

Comparison Shown When Young

Speaker Fails to Attract

Townleyism is fast losing its grip on North Dakota. Evidence of this piles up each day as victory for the Victory Ticket on June 30 grows brighter each day.

Discounting the enthusiasm of anti-Townley workers, the statements of unbiased observers from every part of the state give evidence of the wave of resentment against the socialist doctrines of the Townleyites.

A nurse, whose duties carry her into the homes of farmers in various sections of the state, remained for but a few hours, said today that she finds this true in every section. She has been in the state but a short time, and she finds that farmers are desirous of making their views known.

Next Week Hottest

Next week will be the hottest of the campaign. The Townley bunch, it is reported, will make a last, great effort, pouring into the state socialist speakers and opening the gates of the treasury.

The Linton Record says of a meeting in Emmons county:

On Saturday last the greatest body of men and women ever assembled together in Emmons county to listen to a political speech, gathered at Seaman Park to hear Attorney General William Langer. The Linton gang gathered on the street about one o'clock p.m. and enlivened things by playing a few selections which were enjoyed, especially by out of town visitors.

The crowd then went to the park and enjoyed a game of baseball played by Linton and Hazelton teams, after which the crowd gathered around an automobile under the shade of the trees of the park, prepared to hear why Townleyism, Bolshevism and Socialism, as represented by the Townley forces, were wrong.

Not only was the attorney general present, but also Frank Streeter, the editor of this paper and candidate for Lieutenant-governor, and Senator Moore of Morton county.

The town where Townley told to go home and lie to his constituents like a horse thief."

Streeter's Challenge

Frank Streeter has issued a challenge to Senator A. C. Ward, of Emmons county, asking him to meet him in debate and defend the negative of these propositions:

"That the Nonpartisan League is organized and run by a bunch of resident and non-resident socialists.

"That the farmers have absolutely no voice in the management of the organization.

"That the League administration has attempted to consolidate vast powers in the hands of the governor.

"That inefficiency and dishonesty has been rampant among League state office-holders.

"That laws have been loosely drawn so that scores of political bandits on have been provided with soft jobs."

Go in Autos

A report in a Devils Lake paper indicates the interest of people in Attorney General Langer's campaign. It stated that 100 automobile loads of people plan to go to Edmore Sunday to hear Mr. Langer speak.

From Fessenden comes this report:

"Frank Streeter, independent republican candidate for Lieutenant-governor, who has been campaigning in Wells, Stutsman, and Burleigh counties this week, has had well attended meetings and has made many votes for the antisocialist ticket. Mr. Streeter was accompanied by Rev. Birch- enough, the fighting parson of Pembina.

In a characteristic Birch- enough speech Tuesday night on the courthouse lawn at Fessenden, the fighting parson from Pembina held an audience of six hundred people spell-bound for an hour and forty minutes.

SCHOOL FUNDS
GIVEN COUNTY
ARE INCREASEDApportionment of Funds for Schools for May Quarter Made by Superintendent

More than $3,000 have been apportioned for school purposes for Burleigh county for the May school quarter, according to information from Mrs. Nellie Vars, of the county superintendent's office.

This apportionment means $1 for the education of each child from the funds received for the May quarter.

Of the $6,000 apportioned, Burleigh's receipts for its share $4,500, and the rest is apportioned in 40 school districts throughout the county.

Of the $1 apportioned by the county for the May quarter, $1.00 goes to the State Superintendent and the county superintendent. These funds go to the county for the education of 4,777 children.

Last year the school apportionment per capita was $4.50, little more than half of what it is this year.

WILLIAM LANGER PUTS ANTI-SOCIALISM
CASE SQUARELY UP TO PEOPLE OF STATE
IN OPEN LETTER ON PRIMARY OF JUNE 30Victory Ticket Candidate, Pleased With Result of Campaign Thus Far, Tells People, Anti-Townleyites, They Have Ten Days to Win the Battle

To the people of North Dakota:

"Is North Dakota worth 10 days of your time? That is the question I want to put up to every citizen of North Dakota—to every man and woman within her borders.

"If it were within your power to bring complete victory on June 30 to the forces that favor clean government as opposed to the socialistic autocracy that has been built by non-resident socialists who are today seeking to perpetuate their power, no sacrifice that you might be called upon to make would be too great. On that all of us are agreed.

IT'S UP TO YOU

"It does lie within your power to achieve such victory. Resolve today that from now until June 30 you will devote your whole attention to the one big job of ridding the state of socialism, and I make this call, not in behalf of myself as your candidate for governor, but I make it on behalf of thousands of farmers of this state who have already in a great many instances quit their fields to go on the stump or work among their neighbors that the rule of socialism may be terminated.

"Farmers, workers, businessmen, professional men—women of the country and women of the towns and cities—think just one thing from now until June 30. Think in terms of victory; work for that victory which is assured us if we all do our share, and on July 1, North Dakota will send word to the world that she is through with socialism and socialists.

DID YOU THINK?

"The records the socialists have made since they achieved power is known to all of us. I ask that you stop for a moment and consider what sort of record these men will make if they are given free rein for another two years. To what new lengths would they go? To what new extremes would their desire for revenge lead them? We have seen an era of extravagance, or autocracy, of wanton disregard for law and for the decent things of life, under the rule of socialists operating in the guise of 'friends of the farmers.' I know that there are thousands of farmers in North Dakota who are seeking the light; I know that they want to get out from under the burden that this socialist gang is piling on them; I know that victory is certain on June 30, just as certain as day follows night, but I know too, that to achieve that victory will require every ounce of your energy.

HORDE COMING

"In these 10 days a great horde of socialists—men gathered from all corners of the world—are coming into North Dakota to tell you people how you shall vote in your election.

"They are coming to tell you men and women of the farms you workers, you business men and women, you professional men and women, what you should do with your own ballot on election day. These men have no interest in North Dakota. We however, have. We stay when they are gone, we pay the taxes, we must bear the burdens they impose. North Dakota has asked little of you today. She calls for just 10 days of your time. Out here on the prairies are thousands of farmers looking to the first streaks of dawn of the day when they shall have been ridded of the yoke of socialism.

"Men and women of North Dakota the answer lies with you. Go into the country among your neighbors in the town or city in which you live, preach the gospel of good government and urge all to vote on June 30.

"Your whole time in 10 days that you invest in North Dakota now will pay you greater dividends than any other business or occupation in which you might engage. It is the big job."

WILLIAM LANGER.

COUNTY VOTERS
JOIN IN SWING
FROM TOWNLEYMeeting Held at Baldwin Best
Evidence of What This County
Will Do, Says Observer

A marked change in sentiment in Burleigh county toward Townley is manifest by meetings held this week, according to political observers who have watched the trend of events closely.

One of the most enthusiastic meetings held at Baldwin Thursday night by Frank Streeter, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor and Rev. Birch- enough spoke.

The large hall was filled to overflowing and could not accommodate all those who gathered to hear the speakers. The applause was frequent and vociferous. When the meeting ended both speakers were given an ovation. These points scored most with a man who studied the situation.

Things That Count

Birchenough's story of how the big leaders of the Nonpartisan League had betrayed the farmers and red flag socialists in control and how they are attempting to make North Dakota a socialist state.

The method of handling the Bank of North Dakota which makes additional tax for farmers in making up interest lost on school taxes, the failure to make farm loans and the mis- use of financing favorites and league enterprises.

The despicable attack of Governor Frazier on Miss Minnie J. Nielson State Superintendent of Public Instruction which is being continued by the Governor even now by personally chaperoning her opponent about the state.

Making Children Socialists

State's facts on how the red raggers have tried to train the school children of the state along socialist lines. He presented cold facts which will not be denied.

The farmers of Burleigh county as well as other counties are evidently in the anti-Townley camp in which they go to for facts and figures away with confidence in the better lot of the farmers by the "Red ragged leaders," said one man.

GET BUT ONE MEAL A DAY

Sanitation is By-gone Thing in Country Where Red Radicals Hold SwayBy HERBERT DUCKWORTH.
(Copyright, 1920, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)(Special Cable)
Reval, Estonia, June 19.—The appearance of Moscow stunned me! I had read what other correspondents had written of the Bolshevik capital.

Now I know that they must have been led over "Cook's Tours" through Moscow—that they never saw the real Moscow or they could not have written without reservation that the city was running normally.

I flatly contradict those who have said there are automobiles, well-dressed men and women attending theaters and restaurants—that things are running full blast.

People Dazed, Ragged.

Moscow looks as though it had been smitten by a terrible plague.

The people of Moscow are dazed with sorrow. Their clothes are threadbare and they are almost shoeless.

It is true there is opera in a few theaters, a few restaurants open and a few neighborhood moving picture places. But these are not for the starving masses.

The only automobiles in Moscow are those carrying commissars, and armed soldiers from the Extraordinary Commission for the Suppression of the Counter Revolution.

These official cars race about with open exhausts and like the cars called "openers" make people shudder with fear.

Shops Closed.

I saw long lines of beggars, miserably clad people, waiting for hours outside Soviet kitchens for their one meal a day.

The citizens look like shades from purgatory. With dull, drawn faces and with the sickly parchment-like skins of the starved, they stalk the streets.

All the Moscow shops are closed and the dirty, broken windows are plastered with flaming red revolutionary posters.

Such department stores as Mair & Morris in Kuznechik Most, which was to Moscow what Marshall Field is to Chicago, now are empty shells.

Kuznechik Most, once the Fifth avenue of Moscow, now is like a deserted street in a dead city at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning.

My tour of Moscow included not only the former business districts, but also the section where the workers dwell.

I passed through the famous Saksayev public market one Sunday. Here one can buy anything from hives to canaries. But at the prices charged on the market is for communists, commissars and speculators only.

Another morning I visited the street market at the corner of Karetini and Sadeva streets.

Here is what various foods cost in rubles and in dollars at the pre-war rate of 51 cents a ruble.

Bacon, lb. 250 rubles or $1428.00.
White bread, lb. 750 rubles or $382.50.

Eggs, each, 120 rubles or $61.20.

Pickled herring, each, 1000 rubles or $510.00.

Potatoes, lb. 300 rubles or $153.00.

Thousands of Russians who are not working for the government, exist by exchanging household goods to farmers for food. The farmers now own pianos, phonographs, fine pictures, carpets—the goods of luxury.

In Moscow, one carries bread when he can get it, in his pockets, in brief cases or in a bundle slung with strings across his back. I was stopped scores of times by people begging bread—only bread!

I saw men at Nikolaevsk railway station devouring like mongrel dogs scraps tossed from a Red Cross train.

New plumbing is unobtainable in Moscow, and, as a consequence, sanitary arrangements have completely broken down. Because of this I have seen disgusting incidents on the streets of Moscow by both men and women.

I quite believe the statement made to me by a man who said he was a commissar (Bolshevik official) that the communists fear that barely 100,000 of the 600,000 paid up communists are sincere.

This minority rules by terror only, because the majority is too weak and depressed by starvation to rise.

At least a dozen officials of the communist party begged and implored me to help them escape to America.

Half-Starved Workers.

As for the housing of workers in the dwellings of the bourgeoisie, the result is ludicrous if not pathetic.

Behind the dirty, curtainless windows of once handsome apartment houses, on Tverskaya and Great Sadovaya, I saw the hungry, half-clad children of the Reds living in the furnished rooms. I saw their mothers going out with pails to stand in line and try to get food from the Soviet kitchens.

The people of Moscow are sick of the rule of Lenin and Trotsky.

The revolution was not won, for I found all communists still talking of civil war.

But the heavily armed red guard on every corner and machine guns mounted on motor trucks racing everywhere the mass of Russian people would have exterminated the Bolshevik government long ago.

Railroad officials here were not alarmed and declared they did not care there was any general movement for a number of a nation wide strike.

Decision Soon.

The railroad labor board stated to me that it was impossible to fix a date for the decision. It may come within a week or ten days. It was stated and almost certain within a month.

Railroad officials here were not alarmed and declared they did not care there was any general movement for a number of a nation wide strike.

FOUND IN RIVER

Body of Man Taken from Cannon Ball Not That of Ex-Service Man of Washburn

LETTER IN HIS POCKET

Mystery surrounds the death of a man whose body was found yesterday at the mouth of the Cannon Ball river, near the bridge, and near where it empties into the Missouri, about forty miles south of here.

There was nothing on the body to tell the identity and it had been in the river so long that it was impossible to tell whether or not there were marks of foul play on the body, according to word reaching here today.

The body was found by Captain Joe Leach. At first it was thought that it might be the body of an ex-service man named Herold, of Washburn, who died about a month ago, but this was found to be an erroneous assumption.

Letter in Pocket

In the pocket of the man was found a letter sent to him April 22, 1920. The sender of the letter was Michael Barron of Superior, Wisconsin, box 10. The name of the drowned man had been washed off the outside of the envelope.

Letter of Foreign Extraction

The letter was written in German. The dead man was six feet in height, weighed about 190 pounds, and was very well dressed, having on a blue serge suit, soft tan colored shirt purple stockings, and new shoes. His hair was black and his cheek bones high. He evidently was of foreign extraction.

The only thing found in his pockets in addition to the letter was a package of tobacco and some cigarette papers.

A coroner's inquest was held yesterday afternoon.

NEIL MacDONALD SEEMS TO FARE BADLY ELSEWHERE

N. C. Macdonald, former state superintendent of public instruction and power in the Nonpartisan league "educational forces," found another place where he didn't find it agreeable to tarry long, according to information which has leaked out here. When Neil went "east" last fall it was said he would take work in a big university and later it was reported that he attended Chicago university. However, according to information given by a former student in the university, Neil stayed in Chicago just four days. He had trouble getting his credits accepted as he thought they should be, it is said.

He is now reported to be back in the state to campaign against Miss Minnie J. Nielson, candidate on the Victory Ticket for the office of state superintendent, which she now holds.

NEW AMENDMENT AFFECTS VOTERS

Many voters have made inquiry of state officials in the last few days as to how their vote is now affected by a change of residence.

"Under the amendment which carried at the presidential primary election it is provided that the time of residence in the county is reduced from six months to 90 days and the time of residence in the precinct from 90 days to 30 days," says Carl Kozlitzky, state auditor.

"If a voter moves from one precinct to another in the same county less than 30 days before election he may vote in the precinct of former

JURY DEBATES MURDER CHARGE BUT 7 MINUTES

The case was one of the hardest legal battles witnessed for several years. Step by step with quiet intensity the state wove its web of circumstantial evidence and the defense with equal intensity watched every move, and combatted it as every skein was spun.

Twenty-two witnesses were called by the state and the defense and of all those not a one was an actual witness, outside of Meadow, who testified for himself. Practically all of them were character witnesses and a few indirectly connected with either Polonsky or his family during the culmination of events which lead to his death.

Unsound Mind.
In bringing the verdict of not guilty, the jury, it is believed, by inference assumed that Moses Polonsky was mentally unbalanced. As it is around the sanity or insanity of Polonsky that the defense made its hardest fight, the defense assumed by inference that Polonsky, through more than one year of over-work, had worked himself into such physical condition that he was for a month before his death mentally incompetent.

Throwing aside the volumes of testimony of both the defense and the state, it was evident that the jury inferred that the signed statement of Polonsky which was admitted to court records as a dying statement, was the thought of a man mentally unbalanced or suffering from hallucinations.

The Dying Statement.
This dying statement of Polonsky, and it being witnessed by the sheriff of McLean county and the chief of police of Wilton, was the bulwark around which the state built its case against Meadow.

Meadow, according to the testimony of the witnesses for the defense had always lived a straight, clean life, and been the chief support of his aged father and mother.

The witnesses called during the case are as follows: Mrs. Tillie Warshaw, Isaac Bernstein, Samuel Fairman, Harry Eisenberg, John Sandelin, Mrs. Tuba Polonsky, Harry Eisenberg, Morris Meadow and B. Meadow for the defense. Dr. Thompson, Dr. Quain, Dr. Thelan, John Hammond, Ole Steffens, Robert Cotton, Wm. Fisher, Catherine Ehn, Jos. Wright, Peter Bodler, and Wm. Burdinsky for the state.

The jurors were as follows: Wm. O'Hara, H. B. Wagner, Carl Brady, Fred Peterson, Patrick Casey, Patrick Sullivan, W. D. Brooks, Carl Pederson, Dan Falconer, Wm. Lukes, V. T. Ryan and L. H. Langley.

BISMARCK DAILY TRIBUNE

BISMARCK AND WILTON CLASH HERE SUNDAY

Fans Will Have First Opportunity to See New Team in Action at Capital Park

CLUB STRONG NUCLEUS

"Play ball." Bismarck's new semi-pro baseball team goes into action tomorrow.

Wilton is the opponent for the new team which will represent Bismarck this year. Several players who were on the championship team which was disbanded in 1917 when the war was in progress are back again. Wilton has a good team and the game which starts at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Capital park is expected to be hard fought.

"Dolly" Elder, captain of the Bismarck team, was in Fargo today signing up one or more players for tomorrow's game.

Good Nucleus
The complete line-up of the Bismarck team cannot be announced until Elder returns from Fargo. But Earl (Phelan) Powers will behind the bat and "Franky" Frankenhoft will cavor around the first sack.

With a nucleus of men who have played semi-pro ball or in the Three Eyes and Central Association leagues, Bismarck has the making of the best team that has ever been seen in action here, according to the officials of the Bismarck Athletic club.

Fans Must Rally
The club is on a solid financial basis for the start of the season but must have the strong support of the fans if the baseball enthusiasts of Bismarck want a real team they must stick behind it, the officials say.

Interest in baseball is keener in the northwest this year than ever before, and Bismarck will have no trouble finding worthy rivals.

LANGER TICKET MAKING GAINS, REPORTS SHOW

while he unraveled in a forceful manner by inch the iron concrete evidence of the socialist betrayal of the farmers; and the purpose in us cloaking the farmers organization as cloak behind which to hide their real program the complete and revolutionary overthrow of our democratic form of government and the absolute domination of our state and its resources including farm lands, mines, stores, in fact all industries and all means of production, distribution and transportation, together with one school by a bunch of radical socialists, who if they are not defeated by the voters in the election this month, will make good their boast of making North Dakota the first socialist state in the union. He closed with an earnest appeal to have all men and women to get out and fight this socialist menace before it is too late.

State Autocracy
Mr. Steele then spoke for an hour, and although getting late he held the close attention of the audience. He showed how the League leaders, through the legislature, have centralized all powers over the state affairs, finances, schools, tax matters and everything else in one man—the governor. He dealt with the Bank of North Dakota, and Manager Cathro's wonderful "profits," and spoke of the industrial commission consisting of three members on which the governor has three votes, and the other two members one each.

If socialism is defeated this year a great deal of credit for the victory must be laid to these two gentlemen.

Steele reports a meeting as follows:

"Over 300 people by actual counting crowded into the opera house here last night to listen to a strong appeal by Congressman George M. Young for the election of the entire victory ticket from 'Bill' Langer to 'Jack' Williams. The meeting was a big success in every way. Henry Wood, veteran editor of the Steele Ozon, declared that Young's speech was the most convincing ever delivered in Kidder county. The opinion was expressed by many of the big crowd which greeted Young after but little advertising, and was a good indication of the growing sentiment against Townleyism.

WEAK COUNTY TICKET

Here additional evidence of the decline in Townley power in Kidder county is found by the small attendance present Thursday afternoon at Steele, where Professor Wallis, an imported speaker from God knows where, was billed to speak. Wallis, however, failed to appear thus causing disappointment to about twenty-five 'bitter enders' who had gathered to hear him.

"One of the great sources of weakness of the Townley gang in Kidder county is the Townley county ticket. Three of the men on the league county ticket are not freeholders and one of them paid but a twenty-one cent personal property tax last year. An-

CHIPPEWAS TO DISCUSS BILL VITAL TO THEM

Annual Meeting of Tribe to be Held in Bemidji Beginning on July 13

CLAIM LAKE RESERVATION

Bemidji, Minn., June 19.—The general council of the Chippewas of Minnesota will hold their annual meeting in Bemidji beginning July 13 and matters of vital importance to the Chippewas of Minnesota will be discussed. J. G. Morrison, Jr., of Red Lake, Minn., president of the Chippewas, declares most of the time at the meeting this year will be taken up in discussing the work done by the members of the legislative committees who have been busy at Washington, D. C., a good part of the winter.

The committee has been interested in the Ellsworth or Snyder bill, which provides for the winding up of the Chippewa estate in Minnesota, and putting an end to numerous controversies regarding the manner in which various funds should be handled. There is still some controversy regarding two parts of the bill, and one is regarding the ownership of the Red Lake reservation, and the manner in which allotments should be made there.

CONTROVERSY UP.
The Indians of Minnesota claim that the Red Lake reservation belongs to the Indians as a whole, while the Red Lakers claim that they alone are entitled to that property. This matter will be decided by the United States court of claims.

The other controversy is whether the Red Lake lands shall be allotted to the Indians at this time, and it is said that the Red Lake Indians do not want allotments made now.

The bill also provides for the classification of the Chippewas of Minnesota, and a committee which will be composed of one man to be appointed by the president of the United States, one man to be appointed by the secretary of the interior, and a third man to be appointed by the general council of the Chippewas of Minnesota, will pass upon the qualification of the Indians. Any Indian who is half or more white blood becomes a citizen automatically, but those less than half blood will have to pass an examination before they will be entitled to the privileges of a citizen.

PROVISIONS OF BILL.
Under the provisions of the bill, the competent Indians will receive their money immediately and incompetents will receive their money in 10 annual payments. Minors will receive their money in 20 annual payments. The bill provides for the segregation of the tribal funds and a complete system of paying the Indians the money due them has been arrived at.

The Snyder bill was originally introduced by Congressman Ellsworth of Minnesota, and when it reached the house Indians committee it was revised and amended, after which it became known as the Snyder bill. It will completely wind up the Chippewa estate, according to members of the legislative committee of the general council of the Chippewas of Minnesota, and will take care of the payments of all the claims the Chippewas have against the United States, which aggregate between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000.

LOCAL PASTOR GIVEN HONOR AT JAMESTOWN

Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, has been honored by the board of trustees of Jamestown college. They conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

The announcement was made to a large audience at the graduating exercises which occurred in Union Chapel on the campus.

It is the policy of the board to grant but one honorary degree each year, which greatly enhances the significance of their action in the case of Mr. Postlethwaite.

The following prizes have been announced: Charles L. Allen, Towne-man's Award $25; also the J. A. Steepleman's honorary $10. Eldon

SLASH EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT FOR NEXT YEAR

Washington, June 19.—Chairman Good of the House appropriations committee yesterday said Congress had reduced estimates of government departments for next year by $1,474,422,602, the total appropriations in only two measures exceeding the estimates. Congress added $64,120,000 to the pension bill and $70,861,000 to the postal bill. The latter increase was to meet advances in pay to postal employees, while the pension increase was absorbed in part by increased pensions. The total carried by the 13 great annual supply bills, as given by Mr. Good, was $2,212,126,298, distributed as follows:

Postoffice, $462,575,190; sundry civil, $437,106,808; naval, $433,279,574; army, $392,555,365; pension, $270,156,000; legislative, executive and judicial, $104,735,726; agriculture, $31,712,784; fortifications, $18,833,442; District of Columbia, $18,373,004; river and harbor, $12,040,655; diplomatic and consular, $9,213,537; military academy, $2,142,312.

NORTON MAKES 21 SPEECHES BEFORE FINISH

"Pat" to Cover Entire District in Congressional Fight Before Primary

GALLAGHER GOES STRONG

Mandan, N. D. June 19—Beginning today, P. D. Norton, republican candidate for nomination for representative in congress from the third North Dakota district, will deliver exactly 21 addresses before the primary election. Despite the wide areas he already has covered throughout the district, he will once more visit practically every corner in the west end of the state.

A feature of the full schedule is that a part of the time Norton will be in company with A. J. Gronna, who is putting up a strenuous campaign throughout the state. Their schedules draw them together in Williams, Dunn, and Grant counties, and at four different places they will speak from the same platform.

Meeting in Mountains.
Two of the biggest meetings on the Norton schedule promise to be a picnic at Oakdale in the Kildeer mountains on Sunday, June 27, where both Norton and Gronna will speak, and a picnic for all the voters of Grant county near Leith on Tuesday, June 29, where Norton, Langer, and Gronna will all deliver addresses. Langer and Gronna come from Leith to Mandan to close their campaign the night before election, while Norton will make his final address in Grant or Hettinger county.

Big crowds continue to turn out at every stop for Norton and Gallagher, the candidate for attorney general. At Selfridge and Fort Yates on the Standing Rock reservation hundreds of Indians, as well as hundreds of white voters, heard both speakers. The Indians are particularly strong in their stand against the league and the indications are that they will cast a solid vote for the entire independent ticket from senator down to local officers.

Norton's attack on the hall and other features of the tax program of this state brings enthusiastic applause from his hearers everywhere, and has caused many members of the Nonpartisan League to tarry and ask questions. Norton argues for the entire ticket and shows his hearers the futility of voting for one independent candidate unless they are willing to vote for all and change the entire regime of the state.

Gallagher Going Strong.

From a big picnic at South Heart, in Stark county, on Saturday afternoon and an open air meeting at Richardson Sunday, Norton and Gallagher go into McLean county, Ward county, Renville county, Burke county, Mountrail county, and Williams county. At Ray, in Williams county, they join forces with Gronna on Saturday, June 26, speaking at Ray that morning, at Williston that afternoon. Mr. Gronna goes to Alexander and Mr. Norton probably to Berg or near there. The next day the two parties meet again at a big picnic near Oakdale in the Kildeer mountains, where Gronna, Norton, and Gallagher will speak Sunday afternoon.

Norton and Gallagher then come down through Dunn county and conclude their tour in Grant county at the Liberty Club picnic, which promises to be one of the biggest gatherings prior to election.

After the primaries Mr. Norton delivers a patriotic address at an Indian conclave on the Cannon Ball July 3, and another at the celebration in Mott on July 4.

POTATO PRICE TAKES A DROP

Kansas City, Mo., June 19—The wholesale price of potatoes dropped nearly $2 a hundred pounds here, and dealers predicted additional declines. Southern new potatoes sold from $7.75 to $8.25 a hundredweight. Wholesale dealers said the break was due to increased supplies and the first of the season's offerings by near by growers.

AIR MAIL SERVICE MAKES GOOD AND EXTENSION OF SERVICE ALL OVER THE COUNTRY IS NEAR FUTURE PROSPECT

Washington, June 19—How soon will the railway mail coach become a thing of the past and all first-class mail be carried in swift air-planes?

Air mail, for people realize, has ceased to be an experimental luxury, or a high priced necessity for the few and now is a quick reliable and economical means of mail transportation, according to postoffice reports.

Twenty-two million letters were carried via air in the first 19 1/2 months of air mail operation. The cost was 84 cents a mile, and at this rate, if all mail was carried by airplane, the postoffice would save $100,000 a year on New York-Chicago mail and $42,500 a year on New York-Washington mail. It is said. Air mail postage has been reduced from the original 6 cents to the ordinary mail rate.

The economy and the reliability of the service was the surprise of even those who had faith in the experiment. Between Cleveland and Chicago, for example, air mail pilots made 205 consecutive flights of 327 miles, non-stop, without a single forced landing. They drove their planes through sleet and into the teeth of blizzard gales. They plowed through white fog and gray mist over Lake Erie with their loads of mail packed in sacks along the fuselages of their husky little planes.

So successful was the service between New York and Chicago, with delivery completed in 9 hours and 10 minutes against 24 hours and 20 minutes required by the fastest train, that the post-office department proceeded with the mapping of other lines and now is calling for bids for the carrying of mail by air.

It proposed to establish lines between Boston and Detroit, Chicago and New York; between New York and Omaha, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Jacksonville, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco; between Washington and Jacksonville, New Orleans, Chicago, St. Louis and Minneapolis and Omaha; between St. Louis and Kansas City and Omaha.

It is conceded by almost every air technical expert that aviation is far from their goal of absolute reliability and efficiency, yet in the operation of several score planes with as many pilots the air mail service had but three accidents, resulting from mishaps in flight, and in these accidents one man was hurt and two killed. One of the accidents occurred to an applicant for place as pilot and thus was not strictly chargeable to the air mail service.

This record encourages the prediction of many experts that the day of the expensive and clumsy railway distribution of mail is near at hand and that the mail service of the future will be almost entirely an air service.

FARMERS TAKE UP BATTLE ON GRASSHOPPERS

County Agent Gustafson Reports Good Progress in Campaign Against Insects

Farmers are responding to the call to fight the hoppers, according to G. W. Gustafson, county agent.

He said today that many of them have obtained poison from the county auditor, which they may do upon orders from township boards.

The hoppers did not arrive as early as last year and the farmers have an excellent opportunity to nullify the efforts of the insects, according to Mr. Gustafson.

Returning from a trip over the county, the county agent said that crops in the southern part of the county are beginning to show the effect of dry weather. In the northern part of the county there have been many good rains.

More Corn Planted.
Corn is in excellent condition, and Mr. Gustafson said that there will be twice as much corn in the county this year as ever before. The forty-acre-corn clubs have attracted many farmers. Cut worms have damaged the corn in some places but the cut worms are not as general as last year.

Winter rye is poor, he said, because of lack of moisture last fall and the hard winter. Fifty per cent of the alfalfa also was killed during the winter, he said.

McLean Crop Good.

A. L. Norling, county agent of McLean county, who was in the city today, said that grasshoppers have not appeared in large numbers in that county as last year and that crops are looking fine with recent rains.

Considerable interest is being aroused by the boys' and girls' pig club. Mr. Gustafson said. Ten pure bred pigs have been sent into the Apple Creek district where a club has been formed.

"This should prove the foundation of a great pure bred hog industry in Burleigh county," said Mr. Gustafson.

Two well known farmers are going out to New Salem next week to look over pure bred Holsteins with a view of starting dairy operations in this county.

HEALTH ADVICE

BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.
Conducted Under the Direction of the U. S. Public Health Service

THE FACTS OF SEX

The United States Public Health Service receives a large number of letters every day from the parents of boys and girls asking for information on the important subject of sex education.

Difficult as this subject undoubtedly is, it is no longer possible for the parent to decide whether the child will learn about sex or not. The question is whether he or she will get the right sort of knowledge. The hope that the child might grow up entirely ignorant of sex matters seems to be blasted. For better, or for worse, silence on the subject of love, passion, temptation, marriage and vice, is being replaced by abundant discussion and interpretation in literature and drama, especially in the motion picture plays.

From these sources and from the gossip of bad companions and the naturally evil persons the boy and girl will probably get a one-sided idea about sex, unless the parent offers something better and truer.

Facing the facts as they have been found to exist by officers of the Public Health Service in numerous investigations it is almost criminal for the parent to let the child drift along in ignorance.

The problems of proper sex instruction and social diseases have been found to be so intimately associated that the Public Health Service has established a special division to study the situation and give advice.

Parents would do well to write a letter to the Information Editor, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., asking for instructive literature, sets "B and D," or explaining the case and asking for confidential information.

SAVE WOMAN POWER ON FARM BY MODERN DEVICES, REPORT URGES

Washington, June 19. Modernization of farm homes and general usage of labor saving devices as a means to prevent wastage of woman power are urged in a report made public by the department of agriculture, agents of which recently conducted a survey of farm homes.

"The greatest factor is bringing this about will be the wealthy alert and expert home-maker who will see to it that part of the increased income of farmers goes into the improvements of the home," the report says.

Such a waste of woman power the report asserts "is one of the greatest menaces to the rural life of the nation."

A reasonable amount of planning and well directed investments in modern farm home equipment, it continues, would prevent a large part of the present wastage of energy on the part of the nation's rural home makers.

"The greatest factor is bringing this about will be the wealthy alert and expert home-maker who will see to it that part of the increased income of farmers goes into the improvements of the home," the report says.

"Our constitution forbids nobility," he continued, "because that great document recognizes the truer and finer nobility of American citizenship."

"Education tends to bring the reason and the experience of the past into a solution of the problems of the future," he said. "Avoid class distinction and look to service, not selfishness, for service is the foundation of progress."

AMERICA KNOWS BUT ONE CLASS, COOLIDGE SAYS

Worcester, Mass., June 19. Governor Calvin Coolidge, addressing the graduating class of Holy Cross college, asserted there was no class distinction in America.

"Our constitution forbids nobility," he continued, "because that great document recognizes the truer and finer nobility of American citizenship."

"Education tends to bring the reason and the experience of the past into a solution of the problems of the future," he said. "Avoid class distinction and look to service, not selfishness, for service is the foundation of progress."

WOMEN AND VOTE

Although the suffrage amendment has not yet been ratified, it is estimated that more than 10,000,000 women will vote for president this fall. This vote undoubtedly can play an important part in determining the victory at the elections.

Public opinion and issues have changed during the past four years, and the women will demand clear-cut declarations on matters they consider fundamental, such as child welfare, education, high prices, public morals, women in gainful occupations and independent citizenship for women.

IN 2081 B. C.

Hammurapi was a king in Babylon, who died in 2081 B. C.

Hammurapi formulated and posted a written code of laws which is preserved in nearly complete form, and has been translated into English.

They were simple laws of eye-for-eye justice. If a builder built a house, and did not construct it properly, said the law, "and the house which he built falls in and kills the owner, then the builder shall be put to death."

One may reasonably imagine that the houses were well built.

The law fixed the amount of a surgeon's fee for a successful operation; if the patient died from the operation the surgeon's life was the forfeit.

Eight gur of corn was a year's wages for a field laborer, fixed by law. The law also fixed the yearly wages of ox drivers and herdsmen, the rental of oxen and cattle, and the wages of artisans, such as potters, carpenters and rope makers.

Two shackles for each sar of surface was the legal price for building that house which the contractor must build properly, if he hoped to live to build another. There was no chance to profit in house building.

Recently, in this country, there has been a growing sentiment for government regulation of prices, and for laws to prevent profiteering. Any one who thinks such regulation is new or novel should get out his ouija board and put in a call for old King Hammurapi!

Scandal in brief: Bergdollar.

Prices still talk, but they have little to say to a poor man.

A mere private must seem very conspicuous in a Mexican army.

MARRIED LIFE

Much free advice is about to be offered those who in the month of June embark on matrimonial ventures, for better or for worse. And it would be well if in the hands of every couple there could be placed a copy of the writings of Dr. Thomas Fuller, a renowned English moralist of the 17th century, who in his time was regarded as a specialist on marriage and related problems.

"Marriage," he said, "is not like the hill of Olympus, wholly clear, without clouds. Yea, expect both wind and storm sometimes, which, when blown over, the air is clearer and wholesomer for it."

He advised against choosing wives for beauty alone and, in this connection, told of a floating island in Scotland that swam away with ships that were tied to it.

And he added: "So are they served, and justly so, who only fasten their love on fading beauty, and both fail together."

He described the ideal life as one "who never crosseth her husband in the springtide of his anger, but stays till it be ebbing water. And then mildly she argues the matter, not so much to condemn him as to acquit herself."

"Her clothes," he said, "are comely rather than costly, and she makes plain cloth to be velvet by her handsome wearing it. Our good wife sets up a sail according to the keel of her husband's estate."

And of the good husband, Dr. Fuller wrote: "He alloweth her to meet maintenance, but measures it by his own estate; nor will he give her less nor will she ask more."

"Knowing she is the weaker vessel, he bears with her infirmities. He is careful that the wounds betwixt them take not air, and not be publicly known. Jars concealed are half reconciled."

All of which is as good advice in 1920 as it was in 1620. But, though it was offered 300 years ago, there still are a powerful lot of folks who haven't taken it yet.

At any rate, none of the party platforms are made of Red wood.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

WHAT HAVE THEY GOT FOR IT?

As long as the Townley gang was able to feed its North Dakota constituency on rainbow promises, majorities were not difficult to obtain, but now that the constituency has a few results to go on, the story promises to be somewhat different.

Specifically, what Townleyism means to the North Dakota farmer—or what it means, among other things of the same kind—is an added tax burden of 54.45 per cent on the farmer's land. Our correspondent, Mr. A. L. Evans, writing from Bismarck yesterday, showed that the taxes on farm land in North Dakota under Townleyism are just $18,313,870 more than they used to be. This, of course, is not the whole load that Townley has placed upon the North Dakota grangers, but it is interesting as showing specifically the burden that has been placed upon the farmer's chief asset—the land that he owns and works.

You cannot dance without paying the fiddler. North Dakota is just beginning to get the first bills. The New Day program has not yet got under way. Litigation over it was only recently disposed of, so that the increases in taxes to which we refer do not represent what the tax payers of the state will have to pay when the various projects of the industrial commission are begun. It is perfectly fair to assume that the money needed for these things will add another fifty per cent to farm taxes which in some cases might well involve confiscation.

Here it is, of course, that the socialist idea of communal or state ownership of the land comes in. Farm property taxed out of the hands of its owners may, under the plan considered for North Dakota by the Townleyites, come into possession of the state. It will only be necessary to make the taxes sufficiently high to bring this about—and a great step toward the socialist millennium will have been taken.

North Dakota is reported to have had enough. The farmers of North Dakota are declared to be about to turn Mr. Townley and his oppressive taxes out of the state. It is inconceivable that the farmers of Minnesota will provide a haven for him here after the experience of their neighbors.—St. Paul Dispatch.

TWO CENTURIES OF TURKISH DECADENCE FAIL TO DESPOIL ANCIENT CHARM OF ADRIANOPOLE

Still a Holy City, Says Correspondent, With Ineffable Charms of Orient Still in Evidence, Possessing the Most Beautiful Mosque in the Eastern Country

Adrianople, Thrace, June 19.—The decadence of the two centuries, present political and economic disintegration, war without end, and an uncertain future, have been unable to destroy the ineffable charm that the Turks originally gave to this city of eighty odd thousand souls. Adrianople is still a holy city in faith and in appearance. Romance still abides here.

"The Orient is the only place left to Europe where cities seen at close range are beautiful," remarked Jules Sebotin, a French aviator, while visiting the most beautiful of all mosques, Sinan's masterpiece here, the mosque of a thousand windows but one, erected at the order of Sultan Selim II, in the 16th century.

The first impression of the city had been one of infinite beauty. Arriving from across the lofty Balkans in an airplane, the city had been seen with a rush, a place of spires, and slate domes and red roofs, planted at the intersection of three rivers. It had been a welcomed sight. It had come at the end of four hours ride and it was Journey's end to a tired aviator.

Seen from aloft, the city, surrounded by poplars at its outer rim, its house gardens within the city, showing green vines and flowers, its outlying fields bare, aroused memories of Mardin on the mountains, Diarbeik on the Tigris and Homs of other Turkish cities, always sleeping in beauty, whether visited by sunshine or moonlight.

The longer the stay in Adrianople, the more the charm of this beauty grows, a charm that is as great aloft as aloft.

Adrianople is a city that has the tone of country friendship about it, not unlike a county seat of the south. The center of the agricultural exchange business of eastern and western Thrace, it is frequented by peasants and traders of Turkish, Greek, Bulgarian, Jewish and Armenian nationalities. There is record of but one American ever having done business in the city, and he came there from Paris and bought up all the brooms.

While no day knows what the next may bring forth in the way of political strife and crime, today the city preserves this tone of friendship and order. Strangers as they go along the streets, or visit the shops, are treated with kindly concern. The Turkish officers salute courteously and there is no glint of hostility in the eyes of the Turkish soldiers carrying their new rifles, recently distributed them by Colonel Djefier Bey. His martial law is administered with gentleness, though there is no doubt that the silken glove hides the mailed fist.

The decadence of Adrianople goes at a dignified pace. There is little or none of the seething squalor and dirt and noise and poverty of Constanti-

Decadence seems to have heightened the beauty of the majestic old mosque of Sultan Bayzid. The windows are broken, the locks are rusted in the doors, the grass is growing up between the flagstones, the fountain in the court no longer splashes its waters in the sunshine and the interior of the mosque itself is slowly deteriorating.

Few worshippers come here but on the drowsy Friday afternoons, the Muslim's day of worship, come a devoted band of musicians and singers. The aviator and the Associated Press correspondent stumbled upon this group as they turned to go away, one of the red fez'd band came and saluted with the inevitable simper of the Turk and said "Allah esmaradik." May God abide with you."

Prayers are called from the minar-

State, ex rel. Arnott v. Flaherty.

ROBINSON, J. (Concurring Specifically): I concur in the opinion of Chief Justice Christianson. The purpose of this suit is to enjoin the county auditor from reducing the excessive Bismarck Tax levies to the limitations imposed by statute. (Laws, 1919, Chap. 214; Special Session, 1919, Chap. 61). By Chap. 214 the annual tax levy of any county or political subdivision thereof (or therein) must not exceed by more than ten per cent the amount that would be produced by a levy of the maximum rate on the assessed valuation of 1918. By Chap. 61 the annual tax levy in any county, village, town or city must not exceed by more than ten per cent the amount that would be provided by a levy of the maximum rate on the assessed valuation of 1918.

By the office of the Attorney General it was held that the limitations of Chap. 214 did not apply to a city, because it is not a political subdivision of a county. That construction was entirely too narrow and it was corrected by Chap. 61, though the correction was needless, as the obvious purpose of the first act was to make a uniform limitation on all tax levies.

Under the narrow and erroneous construction given to the act, tax levies were made in excess of the limitations. Then there went up a great and continuous roar against the excessive tax levies, now there goes up similar roar against reducing the erroneous levies to the limitations of the statutes. It shows how some good people are anxious to levy excessive taxes in violation of a plain statute and then to impugn the law for permitting them to do the wrong and then they curse the law which forces them to correct the wrong. However, the law must prevail. The wrongs must be made right.

J. E. ROBINSON.

SATURDAY EVENING LETTER

By Justice J. E. Robinson

June 19, 1920. In the letter of next week I promise to show how the Supreme Court is completely up with its work and ready for a vacation during July and August.

Do you care for my opinion as to how you should vote on the statutes referred to the people at the next election. It is the absent voters act, the investigation committee act, the grand inquisitors or a star chamber court and to pry into the private affairs of the citizen and to make a lot of needless costs and taxes. I hold that such an act is not constitutional.

The state sheriff act is very objectionable. Our court has held void an act under which ex-Judge Cortiss was appointed a state prosecutor to enforce prohibition. The principle is the same. If those acts be sustained it will add largely to the taxes and give to the party in power a direct political advantage. There are in the state too many boards, with enormous

DEMOCRATS MAY HAVE DEADLOCK IN CONVENTION

Already Talking "Dark Horse" at San Francisco Nominating Convention

LOOK OUT FOR MARSHALL

Vice-President Regarded as Potentially "Another Harding" by Some

Chicago, June 19.—Watch for

Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana, vice president of the United States, to be the Harding of the democratic national convention at San Francisco, breaking a three-cornered deadlock, which will resemble the deadlock in the republican convention over Wood, Lowden and Johnson.

This prediction was brought here today by influential democrats passing through Chicago en route to the San Francisco convention. They look for a nomination impasse at San Francisco frames as follows:

William G. McAdoo of New York backed by Wilson and inner circuit administration forces; a loyal payroll brigade of treasury, customs, internal revenue and post office officials and employees generalized by Daniel C. Reiter, former commissioner of internal revenue and former assistant postmaster general; favored also by the big banking interests, who hope to see the party adopt a strong plank endorsing ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations with reasonable reservations for protection of American interests.

A Mitchell Palmer, attorney general of the United States, backed by the big delegation from Pennsylvania and another payroll organization composed of United States district attorneys and beneficiaries of the alien property custodian distribution of valuable plums during the war. Palmer having been custodian when all the big German properties were taken over.

Rogge Saves Day.

Indianapolis, June 19.—With Columbus players on second and third in the eighth, one man out, and the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Indians, Rogge was called to the assistance of Cave and tamed Riggins and pinch-hitter George, giving Indianapolis its seventh straight victory.

First—Marshall has the respect of all democrats, pro and anti-administration, who regard him as fundamentally a democrat.

Second—He has the sympathy of anti-administration senators who feel that he, as well as they, has suffered humiliation from the White House during the long battle over the peace treaty.

Third—He has the admiration of administration senators who in the face of defeat by strong anti-administration interests would be glad to support him, recognizing in him all elements of wise compromise.

Fourth—The vice-president despite personal assertions that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination is nevertheless available and willing to accept it in an emergency, and in fact will have an influential following plugging for him, including the Indiana delegation, from the very beginning, just as Senator Harding had in the Chicago convention.

REPORT EFFORT TO KILL FORMER BOCHE EMPEROR

Doorn, June 19.—An attempt against the life of former Emperor William of Germany was made at 3 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, according to persistent rumors.

Details of the reported attempt are veiled in mystery, but it is asserted that he escaped injury.

A villager, at first thought to be a Belgian but later identified as a German, is said to have entered the castle grounds by the use of a false permit and then tried to kill William of Hohenzollern.

The private secretary to the former emperor assured the Associated Press this morning that no attempt had been made on William.

FRENCH CHAMP CAN FIGHT AS WELL AS SMILE

Expert Who Seeks Him in Action Describes Power of Georges Carpentier

WORTH JACK'S OPPONENT

Gorgeous Georges Carpentier does not always smile as most of his photographs would indicate.

There are times when the smile is replaced by a strained glare, with a touch of wistfulness about it.

This look replaces his happy smile when he leaves his corner ready to do battle.

It is a combination of hope and concentration plus the tiger.

It has been called the hypnotic eye, reinforced and abetted by that other interesting member of the French party, Monsieur Descamps.

America is sitting back waiting to be entertained by those popular eyes and the clever duels of the Frenchman.

On the Gad!

But Gorgeous Georges is still on the gad.

He is "Seeing America First" from the luxurious private car on which the King and Queen of Belgium toured—same service and everything.

Jack Curley, Carpenter's American manager and good angel, is chaperoning the Frenchman's shekel party, doing those one-night stands.

It is the most luxurious and ideal tour any boxer ever made.

"I think 'Carp' is entitled to it," says Monsieur Curley, who speaks more French than Georges does English.

Before the train which is hauling the Carpenter coach about these country stops, curious crowds, photographers and sob sisters with high school French students as interpreters, not to speak of hundreds of small boys, swarm aboard for an eyeful of the Joe Tockett jaw and the wardrobe which goes with it.

Generally they see a bovish-appearing chap sitting at a game of French solitaire while a rather rotund fellow looks on.

Dolores Suarez and Clara Lind, depicted above, are arrayed in two of the many gorgeous gowns which are one feature of "The Passing Show," which comes to the Auditorium on Wednesday night, June 23.

"The Passing Show" is a New York Winter Garden product, noted for the spectacles of scenery, wonderful gowns in comely figures, music and jokes.

"The Passing Show" has proved a gorgeous revelation for New York audiences and now the complete production and cast from the Winter Garden is being presented on tour—the biggest of traveling organizations, in 15 scenes and with a company of 200 people.

There are 1,217 dazzling and brilliant costumes of many colors, worn by 125 Winter Garden beauties. Heading the cast are two of the world's greatest entertainers, Willie and Eugene Howard.

The show—where Georges strips and spars with cushioned gloves on.

Georges is 1,000 shekels richer every time he does his act.

The entertainment is full of taps and French dancing.

But for all that it doesn't quite satisfy the customers. While they know they paid their money only to see an exhibition, they can't help but wishing he'd cut loose.
